

VOL. X—NO. 52.—WHOLE NO. 572.

the following judicious article we copy from the last Quincy Whig:—

have partial returns from this county, and the result is, as doubtless most of our readers are prepared to expect. The whole Mormon has been cast for Ford and Moore. At 100, Gov. Duncan received but six votes. The Ford received one thousand and thirty. This we suppose, will satisfy the State master, Quincy Herald, and the other singers of the party, that there was no leaning.

It will also open the eyes of all parties to the dangerous and anti-republican tendency of the political, religious and military band organised in our midst, and trained to obey the dictation of one man—to vote according to his resentments and prejudices—to live their own honest convictions of right and duty, at the beck and nod of a petty dictator whose morals are of so questionable a character, that even delusion itself, cannot mislead him. It seems to us, remain blind to the ar-stratagem of imposition which is being played under the cloak of religion. The majority of the people at Nauvoo, are doubtless honest and sincere in their religious attachments, but they so far throw away their free agency, and vote in accordance with the selfish and dictatorial policy of SMITH, they do not deserve the franchise—and we were going to say—privilege of freemen. Some one may say, that had the nonsensical Whig ticket such expressions never have come from us. No such thing. I profess to be too much of a republican, to sanction this outrage upon the elective franchise, without denouncing it at once. Had I formed voted the whig ticket in a body, I would have done so in obedience to the opinion of Smith, and the principle would have been equally as anti-republican; and although, we might have had occasion to rejoice in the result, we still should have condemned course of proceeding by which the result was just about. No, no. Our elections were intended to be pure--to be separated from all external and improper influences whatever--to be a medium by which the free and unbiased will of every republican could be calmly and dispassionately pronounced. But as elections conducted at Nauvoo, the franchise is a mere dead letter, and no man stands there to and calamity--a mockery--and the man makes it so is not only a dangerous man in community, but he is entailing sorrow and grief upon the people whom he has so grossly deceived.

EXPLORING EXPEDITION.
writer in the New Orleans Advertiser of this enterprise. He says—Lt. Wilkes has brought home:—

 00 chart;
 00 maps;
 00 specimens of plants,
 00 do of fishes.

00 do of shells.
00 landscapes,
00 specimens of reptiles.
00 do of marine plants.
00 drawings of South Sea Islanders, 26 large boxes of journals, &c. might go on and fill this sheet with a list of valuable cargoes, cargoes more precious than that has ever touched the shores of these; but the above is enough to satisfy the voracious appetite for scientific novelty. The complete surveys of the South Sea Island, their harbors, rivers and roads; the exploration of the Oregon Territory from the 40th degree north latitude to the Mexican line, and from coast to the Rocky Mountains; the exact survey of the Columbia River from its mouth to source, with soundings of almost every foot bed; and a thorough survey of the Bay of Francisco and the Sacramento river in Upper California, are the chief works of hydrography executed by the expedition. The So Loo and several other passages among the Philippines are for the first time thoroughly surveyed. At the close of the expedition is the discovery of the Antarctic Continent, lying between the 100th and 165th degree of East longitude, comprising a coast of 1650 miles.—The city of discovery is now awarded to the expedition, and a further examination of the British captain Ross confirms the extent of the fabled Cape Wilkes. The chart of this land is a valuable specimen of mapping, and the most important results flow from the philo-discoveries of the expedition, which will a great many of the fine-spun theories of human races, that now amuse European wriexploring expedition for the last forty years point to such magnificent, such useful and brilliant results, as this of ours.

DESTRUCTIVE SHELL.—We understand a upon of the most destructive character lately been invented by an American ent in England, and the model sent to country to be submitted to the United s government for their purchase of ap-al. The principles of its destructibility not been divulged, nor will they probably be if our government purchases the machine right. It is represented to be an 'original machine' of the first water, not only inflicting a crushing and shattering destruction where it strikes, but cutting and slashing as it proceeds, with jagged teeth and cutters. The model is

POWERFUL REMINDER.—A minister and a church warden were talking of the lessness of the sexton. "I know of but way of making him think of his lattersaid the minister, "and that is to him toll the funeral bell." "Aye, sure gh," replied the warden, "he would antly then have a rope before his eyes."

PROVED CORN BREAD.—Take corn meal sufficient quantity to make a stiff batter, three pints of sour milk, 3 eggs well n, 2 oz. shortening, 1 gill best molasses, 1 lb salt and saleratus, grease a pan well and bake quick.

FISH STORY.—A very worthy fishman by the name of Grizzle was drowned some time since, in one of the rivers in the State, and all search for his body proved fruitless. After it had been in the water some months, however, it was discovered near the surface, and taken to the

Mr. Smith: Well, Mrs. Grizzle, we have lost Mr. Grizzle's body.

s. G. Yes, the jury has sot on it and it full of eels!

s. G. You don't say Mr. Grizzle's is full of eels?

s. S. Yes it is, and we want to know you will have done with him?

s. G. Why, how many eels do you

S. G. Why, about a bushel, S. G. Well, then, I think you had send the eels up to the house and set gain.
